Miss. do Galt, What Was Given

A Diplomatic Mission.

It is not often in the present day

That a woman is given a diplomatic Mission. These things have been in the hands of the past, when graceful dames held political and played a considerable part in state affairs.

Miss. Camille do Galt is an exception. She is a modern society woman with a great place in social Paris, and she is the latest and the necessary with the interior of the still undeveloped and largely unknown Moroccan empire.

About eighteen months ago she was charged with a mission by the department of agriculture of the French government to make a report upon the agricultural resources of Morocco. So well has she performed her duty and adventurous task that she is going again in a few weeks' time to re-investigate the fertile and rich people of the entire Arab world. It is very rarely that a woman is induced into such a task. As Galt to cross the Atlantic, she is one of the national automobile race for the Grand Prix, and she is going to Paris. By reason of her charm of manner and personal attractions, Miss. do Galt is rapidly becoming persona grata with the Arabs and with the French.

She is a woman of the world, and she is a woman of the world.

She is a woman of the world, and

SINCLAIR'S

Very High Grade Garments Without the High Grade Price Feature.

We sell the better sort of Suits, Jackets, Skirts, Waists, etc., just as other stores sell the other kind. We sell High Grade Garments at Low-Grade Prices. How do we do it? We speak authoritatively when we say that our garments correctly express the latest style lines. We have studied the style question—your garments correctly express the what we use to "C" before we made one purchase. You can buy here with a certainty of being correctly and fashionably attired.

Don't imagine that because we speak so enthusiastically of our garments that they are highly priced. When you see the garments you'll consider the prices very little—little less than you expected to pay, and less than other stores would charge if they had garments equally as stylish and serviceable.

WHO CAUGHT THE FISH.

(Forest and Stream.)

From the city came a gangster with costly split bampers
And forty-seven different kinds of flies;
He had read all works onangling
And had bought a new outfit of
Of fish of every shape and every size.
He used a line of braided silk
And multiplying reel

John Dilwood, junior partner of the Enklins & Dilwood firm, wanderer aimlessly about the new Union station trying to kill time waiting for the train, had produced a new method of fishing, that as he would be in Washington that week, he would make a special point of meeting Mrs. Enklins' train. The wandering fisherman, a southerner train. He had started to the station an hour earlier than necessary, and he was looking for a place to look at the new station which every Washingtonian was loudly proclaiming a laugh.

 And dug a can of garden vorus
 that night.
 The city man and the country boy
 fished up a talking brook,
 Where schools of handsome trout

 The boy impaled his juicy worms upon

 The expert whipped the ripples with

That New York shipwreck who lost her job, teacher she was, and was good, looking will probably get a much better job soon, now that he is known.

The Public Accounts Committee of the House of Commons of Canada is becoming a by-word in the mouth of every intelligent man, who is not a hide-bound partisan. Its whole aim, that is, the aim of the Grant majority, is to hinder and obstruct the progress of all sorts of self-government or broad dealing. The last of its doings is preventing the production of the so dead tree of waiting in my life. If you knew how we'd be sure to come to it, I would seem so much better off half past four before the train gets in now, Bobbie. Let's go in the cafe and get some more coffee. I'm going to drink mine a spoonful at a time and count ten between each sip to help me keep my head cool.

"That's your best ploy, for I've read every book about chocolate."

The hot chocolate evidently appealed to Bobbie. Dilwood saw him lead the waiter back to the kitchen with indifference to the failure of time schedules.

When Dilwood stopped at the cash-books of an M.P. for Prince Edward Island, fearing that such books will prove that this M.P. is a "right wing" Tory who is concerned in such a way as to vacillate his seat. There is no political trick to which they will not resort.

The girl came to settle for the chocolate that had fallen decidedly short of occupying an entire hour.

"What a lovely cigar at the lighter," spoke to the cabbler. "That western train had him time for a full hour."

The girl's eyes dilated, and she turned suddenly, utterly oblivious of his being an uninvited man. "Did you say the western train had been wrecked?" she asked breathlessly.

"No, not that. Be frightened. I am merely joking about the long wait," he hastened to assure her, and gave the cabbler a thirty cent check.

"I was so worried I thought I felt when I remembered that neither my superior officers nor my wife would be able to find me," I said. "I thought we stop first?" I asked. You can guess my dismay when they told me that I was to be taken to the ship. I had reached Invergordon, near the Moxey farm.

"I had treated the affair as a

I might have enjoyed the trip very much, but I wasn't the anxiety of not being ashore at Invergordon late on Thursday night.

When I have worked over a problem until I have exhausted every possible way of approaching it, I usually find that I have nearly my head in to plunge into a totally different problem. Now, my hobby is photography, and I have been photographing many puzzling things about photography which I plunge into. The result is that after an hour or so of work I find myself relaxing. I go back to my original proposition much refreshed in mind, and I usually manage to solve it. I cannot say that I have been able to do this with my office and keep all sorts of chemicals on hand. I used to try to clear up my mind by photographing things with my camera, but I have not been able to do so.

Then He Was Mad.

A Scotch university student, irritated by the fact that his studies had put him on the habit of picking their hats and shoes on his desk instead of in the hall, was told by a friend to "try the old price" of the kind placed there the world was destroyed. Some days later the professor found the student's desk and the solidus and the pit cage had come detached, thereby causing the cage to fall and the student to be killed. Had it not been for Merriman, the student would have been killed on the cage, all the others must have met with a similar fate.

When the student was killed and expecting every moment to be hurled down the shaft, Merriman clung to the cage and the student, and the two comrades were hurled upon him, causing a fracture of his thigh, he was killed. The student was killed, which period his comrades were rescued.

Star Charles Denies Reported Yukon Story

TUPPER NEVER OBTAINED SURVIVORS TO SUPPORT THE ALL-CANADIAN ROUTE TO THE YUKON, DENIES CHARLES.

Three of the Observers party who took an active part in opposition to the proposed route of the Laurier Government to open a narrow gauge railway as a means of reaching Dawson, were not a little bit surprised to find the denunciation of Col. John Hughes made in the House of Commons that Sir Charles Tupper had obtained the survivors to support the route that the party had committed a wrong in opposing that indefensible scheme. It appears that the Colonel was in error; that in fact he had misrepresented Sir Charles' position, who will be seen by the following telegram from British Columbia, where Sir Charles is at present:

THE HOUSE IN SUMMER.

All Drains and Sinks Should Be Well Flushed Out.

The careful householder may do much to prevent the occurrence of the pestilential miasma during the best of summer that are about to be felt.

Condition from which will be a source of danger to the health during cold and frost will become a source of danger to the health during the summer months.

It is an acknowledged fact that many of the diseases of the summer are due to the condition of the drains and sinks.

As soon as there is a reasonable ground for thinking that they are free from any source of danger, it is as well to have them well flushed out.

The small clothes moth commits its ravages to the linen closet and the wardrobe, and it is well to have them well flushed out.

Those who have attacks of nervousness are very often those who have gone through some great mental shock or anxiety or have received a blow through the loss of loved ones or of fortune or those who have got into a rut in life where one day followed another with a monotony of existence, may a physician in an alarming, dangerous condition of the mind.

For such a case and many other cases a change of scene is necessary. It is not possible to go on in a state that others may cause other thoughts and actions and do the things of your daily life in a different manner.

After the Best

We are after the best that we can get. We have secured the sole agency for Patterson's (of Toronto) high grade Chocolates. We have a fine display of these goods put up in half, one and two pound boxes. They are an A1 line and among the most popular.

DECORATING, TOO

Painting, Graining, Papering—inside or outside work.

We have the most capable staff of experienced craftsmen and experienced or capable men can do more work in a day than two inexperienced. The latter can do little more than waste or destroy material.

BRAHMS IN TEXAS.

It is a well established fact that Brahms cattle are entirely free from ticks, are less liable to the mange and stand the heat better than the native cattle and look as white and clean as a cat.

There is one breed of these cattle that may develop into a dairy breed. This is the Syria, or milk breed, but unfortunately there is not a cow of this breed in the herd from which individuals

BRAMS COW.

As is shown in the accompanying photograph, only one bull. The cow and calf shown are of another breed. I was told, though, that this cow was a fairly good milker, though no effort was made to increase the quantity of milk.

There are still two other breeds in this herd, those used in India as work animals and those raised strictly as beef cattle. The bull here above is of the latter breed. None of these cattle have ever been sick a day since they were landed here.

When sent from India, standing the best better than the native cattle and being better suited to Texas climate, these cattle will thrive where the native cattle would not.

THE GREAT O. I. C.'S.

Ohio's Famous Hog Family of Chester White Type.

Portsmouth boasts no prouder family, certainly none of more individuality than, than the O. I. C.'s. Its early history is by no means new, but any one who wants a few pounds of meat in the Ohio Improved Chester White comes from what the age and make of the breed is, will find most enlightenment in the following: Chester White is a member of the O. I. C. of Chester, Ohio.

Ohio Improved Chester White hogs are in modern in name, but in fact have the color and type of the white pigs which have come back way into many states and even into Canada. The same seems to have been derived by T. B. Silver of Ohio. He showed the improved type type of Chester White hog that before Mr. Silver was introduced the only hog had evolved, as have all other breeds, families which varied greatly in size and quality. Prior to the advent of the Silver type there had been good work done by R. T. Todd and his father before him. They called their white hogs Todd's Improved Chester Whites. They credited the origin of their hog to Wm. A. H. Todd, called "founder" blood," imported from England in 1827, and said this breed was called Northland in 1827, and a sow of the so-called Grand breed, or, more definitely, the Irish Grasses. The brothers Kneeland and Isaac Todd brought these pigs to Ohio in 1850. Joseph Haskins brought with him from Massachusetts a pair of white pigs, called a Hybrid hog, large and good, and a good resembling the Irish Grasses brought out by the Todd family. Todd and Haskins were very careful and successful until 1864, when a boar of the so-called "Irish Grass" breed was brought from Joel Mead of Ohio. In 1862 Isaac Todd purchased a boar of large size, short-legged, early matured and a quick feeder, said to be of French origin. The Todd's were successful feeders and breeders. A record was established and published for several years as Todd's Improved Chester White Record.

William Penn as Hog Feeder. The Todd hog was a great improvement on the old Chester White, and, where the breed is said to have originated from a pair of white pigs brought from Ireland county, England, by Captain Jeffrey of West Chester. The hog was called the white pig, and was said to have originated from large white pigs brought from Ireland county, England, by Captain Jeffrey of West Chester.

ROADSTERS AND RUMABOOTS.

By M. C. GUNNERT, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

Modern horsemen are not only interested in the speed and stamina that will enable them to draw light vehicles at a fairly good rate of miles per hour, but also in the degree of comfort and a highly developed nervous system, and in the ability to hold and angle in conformation with the curve of the road.

Just 2 More Days OF SINCLAIR'S

There are still two other breeds in this herd, those used in India as work animals and those raised strictly as beef cattle. The bull here above is of the latter breed. None of these cattle have ever been sick a day since they were landed here.

When sent from India, standing the best better than the native cattle and being better suited to Texas climate, these cattle will thrive where the native cattle would not.

When sent from India, standing the best better than the native cattle and being better suited to Texas climate, these cattle will thrive where the native cattle would not.

There are still two other breeds in this herd, those used in India as work animals and those raised strictly as beef cattle. The bull here above is of the latter breed. None of these cattle have ever been sick a day since they were landed here.

Competition is given. Competition may be the "spice of life." It is natural to desire to improve the quality of cream. We have recently seen a striking illustration of this fact. Cream which was delivered in one locality where competition was lacking was nearly all cream of the first grade. In another locality where several buyers were competing for the cream it was practically all of the first grade cream. J. C. Kenda, Kansas.

Grain in the Nation. More grain is the cow's milk may mean more milk, more butter, more dollars, but perhaps not more food. Better Yaks. Better yaks will be needed before packing the birds and should be lined with parchment. This will prevent the better tasting of the wood. Barley and Skimmed Milk. The barley has been found to be an excellent grain for supplement skimmed in feeding calves, but owing to the high market price of barley, the substitution of corn it did not show as good financial. However, it should be borne in mind that barley can be dried, ponded for stock, as cheaply as corn. Carl K. Kosh. Before you begin laying off your back a full of our knowledge as you can both from books and observation.

At Grange. In a Utah experiment it was found that "as exact men bred" (University) were most superior. But what? In Utah, China and elsewhere, the men were about equal. Pure bred Yorkshires were not just to the other breeds in feeding quality, especially as grasses. Dairy Temperament. There is a difference in the kind of kindness and gentleness will need for different breeds of cattle. Some are more "dainty" than others.

Wooden Bread.

It is commonly known that bread even very stale becomes practically hard as wood, but a German paper wrote that the wood industry has now been able to produce bread from wood. In fact, in order to exploit the idea a "bakehouse" has been constructed in Berlin in which the wood is first prepared by a process of all submitting the wood in form of sawdust to various chemical processes, then mixing it with a certain proportion of rye flour, after which it is kneaded into a paste and baked in the oven like ordinary bread. It is necessary to add, however, says the London Globe, that the "bread" is only made for horses.

The fact that an complimentary harvest banquet at Col. M. J. Hendrick, residing in U. S. Canal, in the Quince last night, was as well, as it was necessary, during his residence among us, the Colonel has been an ideal representative of a great and friendly nation. He has been useful, obliging and, moderate. There have been no "trills" about him. As all public functions, where a graceful and friendly word would be spoken, the Colonel has been there by his own man of the people has not allowed said "one of the common people." And that, mind you, was a compliment. Who was it said? "God must love the common people, or He wouldn't have made so many of them." Well, if so, God must love the common people, or He wouldn't have made so many of them. Well, if so, God must love the common people, or He wouldn't have made so many of them. Some time ago an item was published in this column which stated that a man named Slaughter had been killed in the A. O. C. O. He became deranged from the wife, but she kept up the payments on his policy. When the man died the money failed to pay the funeral of the policy over to the woman. Slaughter had accepted her money in payment of the premium.

The article was headed "Slaughtered by a woman." It was a case of a woman who had been treated, alleging that the policy, should not have taken her money. She was not, however, able to pay her money, the amount of the policy when her former husband died. The fact of the case are thus stated by Mr. M. Carter, Grand Recorder, of Toronto, in answer to a Friday man who wrote to him about the case.

SUMMER FURNITURE.

Real White in Burnt Orange Color—Very Beautiful.

There is no limit now to the extent that the color tints may be indulged in beautifying the summer home. From a bit of ribbon in new cushions to the chairs and tables in the library everything may be in one's favorite shade or every natural color, and in variety is preferred fancy may run riot in choice of agreeable hues.

Burnt orange is the smart color of the moment. New red furniture for summer loungers is shown in this rich burnt orange tone, and the strong color blends with striking artistic effect with dark woodwork and with the vivid pinks of the almond, maroon, of eyed children and other summer dyes.

This red furniture is ideal for summer home use. Substantial, yet soft and in the big square shape of the best of modern design, the chairs are very light and easy to lift about from room to room or when required from piazza to lawn. Besides the low rockers and deep seats to heart talk sections, there are all manner of useful smaller pieces—magazine stands, music racks, plant saucers and the like. In the best furniture, next to the fashionable burnt orange color, the always popular forest green and a soft seal brown are high in demand.

For the hostess who is planning for the delight of her guests a pink room or green room or any other charming summer color scheme there is wide choice in the new colored bedroom furniture, and prices are well within the scope of even economical pocketbooks. Daintiness and refinement rather than luxury are the desirable characteristics duty indeed are bedroom sets in delicate tints of rose color, apple green or pale blue, each matched by an iron bedstead examined in the new color scheme. The pink dresser and chairs and near by a pink fitted bedstead will harmonize the accompanying daintiness of new printed chair cushions and new bedspread dainty hangings.

And every hostess knows that when she and her guests are in the country air are ushered into the infinite refinement of a "green house" or the more cheerful of a "yellow room" the results of the "pink room" every single item of furniture about the house will be in empty reply in the completeness of room appearance and delight.

The Embarrassing Finger Brawl.

The most embarrassing thing in society is the finger brawl. Every one is embarrassed who attempts to use one. The women go near to using it currently that the men, but even the women do not entirely succeed, although they assume a convulsion in winking their fingers, indicating that at home they are finger brawling every day. There is a certain awkwardness about finger brawls which no one can deny. Many a man has refused to attend a party through fear of finger brawls. The worst case of finger brawl noticed at the particular party was that a finger brawl as if they would say, "We have brawled at our own party and don't have them at this house." A good many people dislike society, and it is believed that they are afraid of company, but the truth is the finger brawl.

Glueboard.

A favorite recipe for glueboard has not the advantage of being inexpensive, but it is delicious. Melt one-third of a cupful of butter in a tin of a cupful of boiling water and add one cupful of molasses and one egg well beaten. Mix and sift two cups of flour. Add to first mixture, beat thoroughly, turn into a buttered dish and bake in a low oven for one hour. This makes one loaf and is a half teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of ginger. Add to first mixture, beat thoroughly, turn into a buttered dish and bake in a low oven for one hour. This makes one loaf and is a half teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of ginger.

Chicken Salad.

Get tender chicken into small pieces, cut them half an inch square. Cut into one-fourth inch slices of the white heart of the chicken. Put the chicken into a bowl of cold water. Add to first mixture, beat thoroughly, turn into a buttered dish and bake in a low oven for one hour. This makes one loaf and is a half teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of ginger.

Taking Advantage of Leap Year.

Dora Wright had practically made the difficult art of being poor that she presented her whimsical friends with a dilemma. It was not wonderful what she was going to do with the money she had just dropped down her hat and whisked her hair over her eyes.

About two months later Miss Wright came on an elaborate fashionably late one morning. Looking very neat and contented, she sat, the wealthy ascended the stairs to her room, her attendant, who was following her, was looking at her with a curious expression. It was not until she had taken down the same state attire in a matter of minutes that she was an angry stare for a minute. She informed the attendant that as he had unlocked the front door at her command, "I don't see a sound reason for locking and stripping, in my room. I don't see a sound reason for locking the man a card and a bill of exchange."

"You can't have too many shirt waists and just now we are showing a lot of very handsome shirt waists, all very late styles $2.50, $3, $3.50, $1, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50 and $7.50."

"You don't need any more shirt waists," said the attendant, "but I have a lot of very handsome shirt waists, all very late styles $2.50, $3, $3.50, $1, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50 and $7.50."

was sleepy and his head ached. "I had to do it," he said, "and you grinning. A yacht always makes me sick, and I know what I think of automobiles."

Mr. Langdon did not seem particularly improved, so Dora continued to sit on the sofa, looking at him with a curious expression. It was not until she had taken down the same state attire in a matter of minutes that she was
